

Kitchener & Brewer.
No sample.

INDEX TO VOLUME IV, 1891.

	PAGE.
A CONFEDERATE CAVALRY OFFICER'S VIEWS ON "AMERICAN PRACTICE AND FOREIGN THEORY."—Brigadier-General THOMAS T. MUNFORD.....	197
A CONFEDERATE CAVALRY OFFICER'S REMINISCENCES.—Brigadier-General THOMAS T. MUNFORD.....	276
CAVALRY RAIDS.—Lieutenant W. H. HAY.....	362
CAVALRY OUTPOST DUTY.—By General F. DE BRACK. Translated by Major C. C. CARR, 384
FIRING AT BREAST-WORKS OF SNOW WITH THE BERDAN RIFLE.—A. H. KOVRIGIN, 161
FURTHER REMARKS ON THE CAVALRY FIGHT ON THE RIGHT FLANK AT GETTYSBURG.—Lieutenant-Colonel Wm. BROOKE-RAWLE.....	157
GREGG'S CAVALRY FIGHT AT GETTYSBURG, JULY 3, 1863.—Lieutenant-Colonel Wm. BROOKE-RAWLE.....	257
LETTERS ON CAVALRY.—Prince KRAFT ZU HOHENLOHE-INGELFINGEN. Translated by Colonel R. P. HUGHES.
SEVENTEENTH LETTER.—The Cavalry Divisions in Peace.....	179
EIGHTEENTH LETTER.—The Cavalry in Combination with Infantry.....	306
NINETEENTH LETTER.—Fighting on Foot of the Cavalry.....	413
MICHIGAN CAVALRY AT GETTYSBURG.—General JAMES H. KIDD.....	41
MOUNTAIN CANNON.—Lieutenant ALVIN H. SYDENHAM.....	64
NEW DRILL REGULATIONS FOR CAVALRY, U. S. ARMY.....	69
ON THE SABER AND SABER EXERCISE.—Lieutenant PETER E. TRAUB.....	297
PROFESSIONAL NOTES.—A Convenient Method of Orientation.....	313
An Easily Constructed Canvas Boat.....	91
Cavalry Tactics.....	424
Description of "Field Sketching Board".....	204
Experiments in Night Firing by Russian Troops.....	314
Horses in Danger.....	430
Memorandum of the Views of the Division Commander in Regard to Operations in the Field against Hostiles.....	92
Remarks on Prince Hohenlohe's Sixteenth Letter on Cavalry.....	89
Some of the Effects of School Training Upon the Indians.....	422
The British Cavalry at Aldershot, September, 1890.....	85
The Effect of Small-Caliber Bullets.....	318
The Indian Messiah.....	427
The Modern Cavalry Destroyer Again.....	419
The Rural Guards of Mexico.....	316
The Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, Va.....	316
The Wounds Caused by Small-Caliber Bullets.....	208
Umpiring the Cavalry Out of Existence.....	319
SOME FOREIGN CRITICISM OF THE AMERICAN CIVIL WAR.—Lieutenant WILLIAM A. SHUNK.....	243

INDEX TO VOLUME IV.

	PAGE.
SOME OBSERVATIONS ON THE GERMAN CAVALRY.—Lieutenant WILLIAM H. SMITH.	289
SOME THOUGHTS ON EQUIPMENT.—Captain MOSES HARRIS.....	166
SOME THOUGHTS ON MILITARY SETTING-UP AND GYMNAS TIC EXERCISES.— Lieutenant PETER E. TRAUB.....	348
THE CAVALRY AT CHANCELLORSVILLE, MAY, 1863.—Lieut.-Col. W. L. HEERMANCE..	107
THE EFFECT OF SMALL-CALIBER ARMS AND SMOKELESS AND NOISELESS POWDER UPON CAVALRY OPERATIONS OF THE FUTURE.—Translated by Lieuten- ant R. H. WILSON.....	137
THE ENLISTED MEN OF THE U. S. ARMY.—Captain GEORGE S. WILSON.....	377
THE HORSE.—Captain A. E. WOOD.....	331
THE LATEST REGULATIONS FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE GERMAN CAVALRY IN SCREENING AND RECONNOITERING DUTIES.—By a German Staff Officer.	27
THE NINTH U. S. CAVALRY IN THE SIOUX CAMPAIGN OF 1890.—Lieutenant ALEX. W. PERRY.....	37
THE PROPER EMPLOYMENT OF CAVALRY IN WAR.—Captain A. E. WOOD.....	114
THE PROPER RELATIVE PROPORTIONS OF THE THREE BRANCHES OF THE SER- VICE.—Lieutenant W. A. HOLBROOK.....	381
THE STONEMAN RAID OF 1865.—Brigadier-General LUTHER S. TROWBRIDGE.....	188
TRAINING THE TROOP FOR FIELD DUTY.—Lieutenant JOHN M. JENKINS.....	223
WITH THE RESERVE BRIGADE.—Captain MOSES HARRIS.....	3

ERRATUM.

No. 14, September, 1891 —

Line 30, page 261, for "morning" substitute "evening."

